An Injured Dog

One day, I saw a dog on the road when I was walking my way home. One of the legs of the dog was wrapped. It was hurt. But the owner has just left it there on the street. I did not want to get in too many troubles so I walked away from it. But then it started to follow me. I did not know what to do. Therefore, I stayed there with the little dog to make sure that he would not get lost or caught by some people.

I stayed there and hoping that its owner could show up. Then I waited and waited. I did not get why the owner did not take a good care of it. While I was thinking, I saw a man coming along with a woman. They looked like they were looking for something. The man looked blind. I went up and asked if they needed help. They said they were looking for a dog. I ran back to the puppy and brought it to the man and woman. They also told me why they lost the dog. That day when the man was walking the dog, suddenly the dog stopped because the man was blind he did not notice. Therefore, he kept walking. The dog got lost, it did not know where to go so it stayed there.

After I knew what happened, I told them to get a dog lead or these kinds of things would happen again. They said they were planning to get one. They thanked me and gave me a little card of the dog's name and photo. I gave a big smile to them and they went home happily.

I felt happy that I did a good thing. 'I'll never forget that puppy,' I said and put the card on my desk and hoping I will not meet it the same way like today.
